A BILL

To secure the Federal voting rights of persons when released from incarceration.

1       Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2       tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

1 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

2 This Act may be cited as the “Democracy Restoration 3 Act of 2023”.

4 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

5 Congress makes the following findings:

6 (1) The right to vote is the most basic constitutive
7 act of citizenship. Regaining the right to vote
8 reintegrates individuals with criminal convictions
9 into free society, helping to enhance public safety.

10 (2) Article I, section 4, of the Constitution
11 grants Congress ultimate supervisory power over 12 Federal elections, an authority which has repeatedly 13 been upheld by the United States Supreme Court.

14 (3) Basic constitutional principles of fairness
15 and equal protection require an equal opportunity 16 for citizens of the United States to vote in Federal 17 elections. The right to vote may not be abridged or 18 denied by the United States or by any State on ac-19 count of race, color, gender, or previous condition of 20 servitude. The Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth,
21 Nineteenth, Twenty-fourth, and Twenty-sixth
22 Amendments to the Constitution empower Congress 23 to enact measures to protect the right to vote in 24 Federal elections. The Eighth Amendment to the 25 Constitution provides for no excessive bail to be re-

1       quired, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and 2       unusual punishments inflicted.

3                 (4) There are 3 areas in which discrepancies in 4       State laws regarding criminal convictions lead to un-
5       fairness in Federal elections—

6                         (A) the lack of a uniform standard for vot-
7       ing in Federal elections leads to an unfair dis-8       parity and unequal participation in Federal 9       elections based solely on where a person lives;

10                       (B) laws governing the restoration of vot-
11       ing rights after a criminal conviction vary 12       throughout the country and persons in some 13       States can easily regain their voting rights
14       while in other States persons effectively lose 15       their right to vote permanently; and

16                       (C) State disenfranchisement laws dis-
17       proportionately impact racial and ethnic minori-18       ties.

19                 (5) State disenfranchisement laws vary widely.
20       Two States (Maine and Vermont) and the Common-
21       wealth of Puerto Rico do not disenfranchise individ-22       uals with criminal convictions at all. In 2020, the 23       District of Columbia re-enfranchised its citizens who 24       are under the supervision of the Federal Bureau of 25       Prisons. Twenty-five States disenfranchise certain

1 individuals on felony probation or parole. During 2 2023, lawmakers in Minnesota and New Mexico ex-
3 panded voting rights to citizens on felony probation 4 and parole. In 11 States, a conviction for certain of-5 fenses can result in lifetime disenfranchisement.

6 (6) Several States deny the right to vote to in-7 dividuals convicted of certain misdemeanors.

8 (7) In 2022, over 4,600,000 citizens of the 9 United States, or about 1 in 50 adults in the United 10 States, could not vote as a result of a felony convic-
11 tion. Of the 4,600,000 citizens barred from voting
12 then, only 23 percent were in prison or jail. By con-
13 trast, 75 percent of persons disenfranchised then re-
14 sided in their communities while on probation or pa-
15 role or after having completed their sentences. Ap-16 proximately 2,200,000 citizens who had completed
17 their sentences were disenfranchised due to restric-
18 tive State laws. Over 930,000 Floridians who com-19 pleted their sentence remain disenfranchised because 20 of a pay-to-vote requirement that was enacted by 21 Florida lawmakers in 2019 to undermine the impact 22 of a 2018 ballot initiative that eliminated the life-
23 time ban for persons with certain felony convictions.
24 In 3 States—Alabama, Mississippi, and Tennessee—

1 more than 8 percent of the total population is 2 disenfranchised.

3 (8) In those States that disenfranchise individ-
4 uals post-sentence, the right to vote can be regained 5 in theory, but in practice this possibility is often 6 granted in a non-uniform and potentially discrimina-7 tory manner. Disenfranchised individuals sometimes 8 must either obtain a pardon or an order from the 9 Governor or an action by the parole or pardon 10 board, depending on the offense and State. Financial 11 restrictions may also inhibit individuals who have 12 completed their sentences from re-enfranchisement.
13 Individuals convicted of a Federal offense often have 14 additional barriers to regaining voting rights.

15 (9) Many felony disenfranchisement laws today
16 derive directly from post-Civil War efforts to stifle 17 the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments. Between 18 1865 and 1880, at least 14 States—Alabama, Ar-
19 kansas, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Mis-
20 sissippi, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, North Caro-
21 lina, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Texas—en-
22 acted or expanded their felony disenfranchisement 23 laws. One of the primary goals of these laws was to 24 prevent African Americans from voting. Of the 25 States that enacted or expanded their felony dis-

1       enfranchisement laws during this post-Civil War pe-
2       riod, at least 11 continue to preclude persons on fel-
3       ony probation or parole from voting.

4                     (10) State disenfranchisement laws disproportio-
5       nately impact racial and ethnic minorities. In re-
6       cent years, African Americans have been imprisoned 7       at over 5 times the rate of Whites. More than 6 per-8       cent of the voting-age African-American population, 9       or 1,800,000 African Americans, are disenfranchised
10      due to a felony conviction. In 9 States—Alabama 11      (16 percent), Arizona (13 percent), Florida (15 per-12      cent), Kentucky (15 percent), Mississippi (16 per-13      cent), South Dakota (14 percent), Tennessee (21
14      percent), Virginia (16 percent), and Wyoming (36 15      percent)—more than 1 in 8 African Americans are 16      unable to vote because of a felony conviction, twice 17      the national average for African Americans.

18                    (11) Latino citizens are also disproportionately 19       disenfranchised based upon their disproportionate 20       representation in the criminal justice system. Al-
21       though data on ethnicity in correctional populations 22       are unevenly reported and undercounted in some 23       States, a conservative estimate is that at least 24       506,000 Latino Americans or 1.7 percent of the vot-
25       ing-age population are disenfranchised. More than 2

1 percent of the voting-age Latino population, or 2 560,000 Latinos, are disenfranchised due to a felony
3 conviction. In 31 States Latinos are disenfranchised
4 at a higher rate than the general population. In Ari-
5 zona and Tennessee over 6 percent of Latino voters
6 are disenfranchised due to a felony conviction.

7 (12) Women have been significantly impacted
8 by mass incarceration since the early 1980s. Ap-
9 proximately 1,000,000 women were disenfranchised
10 in 2022, comprising over 20 percent of the total 11 disenfranchised population.

12 (13) Disenfranchising citizens who have been 13 convicted of a criminal offense and who are living
14 and working in the community serves no compelling 15 State interest and hinders their rehabilitation and 16 reintegration into society. Models of successful re-17 entry for persons convicted of a crime emphasize the 18 importance of community ties, feeling vested and in-19 tegrated, and prosocial attitudes. Individuals with 20 criminal convictions who succeed in avoiding recidi-21 vism are typically more likely to see themselves as 22 law-abiding members of the community. Restoration 23 of voting rights builds those qualities and facilitates 24 reintegration into the community. That is why allow-25 ing citizens with criminal convictions who are living

1       in a community to vote is correlated with a lower 2       likelihood of recidivism. Restoration of voting rights 3       thus reduces violence and protects public safety.

4                 (14) State disenfranchisement laws can sup-5       press electoral participation among eligible voters by 6       discouraging voting among family and community
7       members of disenfranchised persons. Future elec-
8       toral participation by the children of disenfranchised
9       parents may be impacted as well.

10               (15) The United States is one of the only West-11       ern democracies that permits the permanent denial 12       of voting rights for individuals with felony convic-13       tions.

14               (16) The Eighth Amendment’s prohibition on 15       cruel and unusual punishments “guarantees individ-
16       uals the right not to be subjected to excessive sanc-17       tions”. (Roper v. Simmons, 543 U.S. 551, 560 18       (2005)). That right stems from the basic precept of 19       justice “that punishment for crime should be grad-20       uated and proportioned to [the] offense”. Id.
21       (quoting Weems v. United States, 217 U.S. 349, 22       367 (1910)). As the Supreme Court has long recog-23       nized, “[t]he concept of proportionality is central to 24       the Eighth Amendment”. (Graham v. Florida, 560
25       U.S. 48, 59 (2010)). Many State disenfranchisement

1 laws are grossly disproportional to the offenses that 2 lead to disenfranchisement and thus violate the bar
3 on cruel and unusual punishments. For example, a 4 number of States mandate lifetime disenfranchise-
5 ment for a single felony conviction or just two felony 6 convictions, even where the convictions were for non-7 violent offenses. In numerous other States, dis-8 enfranchisement can last years or even decades while 9 individuals remain on probation or parole, often only 10 because a person cannot pay their legal financial ob-
11 ligations. These kinds of extreme voting bans run 12 afoul of the Eighth Amendment.

13 (17) The Twenty-Fourth Amendment provides 14 that the right to vote “shall not be denied or 15 abridged by the United States or any State by rea-
16 son of failure to pay any poll tax or other tax”. Sec-
17 tion 2 of the Twenty-Fourth Amendment gives Con-
18 gress the power to enforce this article by appropriate 19 legislation. Court fines and fees that individuals 20 must pay to have their voting rights restored con-21 stitute an “other tax” for purposes of the Twenty-22 Fourth Amendment. At least five States explicitly 23 require the payment of fines and fees before individ-
24 uals with felony convictions can have their voting
25 rights restored. More than 20 other States effec-

1       tively tie the right to vote to the payment of fines 2       and fees, by requiring that individuals complete their 3       probation or parole before their rights are restored.
4       In these States, the non-payment of fines and fees
5       is a basis on which probation or parole can be ex-
6       tended. Moreover, these States sometimes do not 7       record the basis on which an individual's probation 8       or parole was extended, making it impossible to de-9       termine from the State's records whether non-pay-10      ment of fines and fees is the reason that an indi-11      vidual remains on probation or parole. For these 12      reasons, the only way to ensure that States do not 13      deny the right to vote based solely on non-payment 14      of fines and fees is to prevent States from condi-
15      tioning voting rights on the completion of probation 16      or parole.

17 SEC. 3. RIGHTS OF CITIZENS.

18       The right of an individual who is a citizen of the 19       United States to vote in any election for Federal office 20       shall not be denied or abridged because that individual has 21       been convicted of a criminal offense unless such individual 22       is serving a felony sentence in a correctional institution 23       or facility at the time of the election.

1 SEC. 4. ENFORCEMENT.

2       (a) ATTORNEY GENERAL.—The Attorney General
3 may, in a civil action, obtain such declaratory or injunctive 4 relief as is necessary to remedy a violation of this Act.

5       (b) PRIVATE RIGHT OF ACTION.—

6           (1) IN GENERAL.—A person who is aggrieved
7 by a violation of this Act may provide written notice 8 of the violation to the chief election official of the 9 State involved.

10          (2) RELIEF.—Except as provided in paragraph 11 (3), if the violation is not corrected within 90 days 12 after receipt of a notice under paragraph (1), or 13 within 20 days after receipt of the notice if the viola-14 tion occurred within 120 days before the date of an 15 election for Federal office, the aggrieved person 16 may, in a civil action, obtain declaratory or injunc-17 tive relief with respect to the violation.

18          (3) EXCEPTION.—If the violation occurred 19 within 30 days before the date of an election for 20 Federal office, the aggrieved person need not provide 21 notice to the chief election official of the State under 22 paragraph (1) before bringing a civil action to obtain 23 declaratory or injunctive relief with respect to the 24 violation.

1 SEC. 5. NOTIFICATION OF RESTORATION OF VOTING

2                   RIGHTS.

7                         criminal offense under the law of that State that 8                         such individual has the right to vote in an election 9                         for Federal office pursuant to the Democracy Res-10                         toration Act of 2023 and may register to vote in any

19                         the individual—

20                                 (i) is sentenced to serve only a term 21                                 of probation; or

22                                 (ii) is released from the custody of 23                                 that State (other than to the custody of 24                                 another State or the Federal Government 25                                 to serve a term of imprisonment for a fel-26                                 ony conviction).

7 (b) FEDERAL NOTIFICATION.—

9                         been convicted of a criminal offense under Federal 10                        law shall be notified in accordance with paragraph

12                        election for Federal office pursuant to the Democ-13                        racy Restoration Act of 2023 and may register to 14                        vote in any such election.

15 (2) DATE OF NOTIFICATION.—

1 States Courts on the date on which the in-2 dividual is sentenced; or

3 (ii) in the case of any individual com-4 mitted to the custody of the Bureau of 5 Prisons, by the Director of the Bureau of 6 Prisons, during the period beginning on 7 the date that is 6 months before such indi-
8 vidual is released and ending on the date
9 such individual is released from the cus-
10 tody of the Bureau of Prisons.

11 (B) MISDEMEANOR CONVICTION.—In the 12 case of such an individual who has been con-
13 victed of a misdemeanor, the notification re-14 quired under paragraph (1) shall be given on 15 the date on which such individual is sentenced 16 by a court established by an Act of Congress.

17 SEC. 6. DEFINITIONS.

18 For purposes of this Act:

19 (1) CORRECTIONAL INSTITUTION OR FACIL-
20 ITY.—The term “correctional institution or facility”
21 means any prison, penitentiary, jail, or other institu-
22 tion or facility for the confinement of individuals 23 convicted of criminal offenses, whether publicly or 24 privately operated, except that such term does not

1        include any residential community treatment center
2        (or similar public or private facility).

3                (2) ELECTION.—The term “election” means—

4                        (A) a general, special, primary, or runoff 5                        election;

6                        (B) a convention or caucus of a political 7                        party held to nominate a candidate;

8                        (C) a primary election held for the selec-
9                        tion of delegates to a national nominating con-10                       vention of a political party; or

11                        (D) a primary election held for the expres-12                        sion of a preference for the nomination of per-13                        sons for election to the office of President.

14                (3) FEDERAL OFFICE.—The term “Federal of-15                        fice” means the office of President or Vice President 16                        of the United States, or of Senator or Representa-

18                        the Congress of the United States.

19                (4) PROBATION.—The term “probation” means 20                        probation, imposed by a Federal, State, or local 21                        court, with or without a condition on the individual

23                        (A) the individual’s freedom of movement;
24                        (B) the payment of damages by the indi-
25                        vidual;

5 SEC. 7. RELATION TO OTHER LAWS.

6           (a) STATE LAWS RELATING TO VOTING RIGHTS.—
7   Nothing in this Act shall be construed to prohibit any 8   State from enacting any State law which affords the right
9   to vote in any election for Federal office on terms less 10   restrictive than those established by this Act.

(b) CERTAIN FEDERAL ACTS.—The rights and remedies established by this Act are in addition to all other rights and remedies provided by law, and neither rights and remedies established by this Act shall supersede, restrict, or limit the application of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 (52 U.S.C. 10301 et seq.), the National Voter Registration Act (52 U.S.C. 20501), or the Help America Vote Act of 2002 (52 U.S.C. 20901 et seq.).

19 SEC. 8. FEDERAL PRISON FUNDS.

20        No State, unit of local government, or other person 21 may receive or use, to construct or otherwise improve a 22 prison, jail, or other place of incarceration, any Federal 23 funds unless that State, unit of local government, or per-24 son—

25 (1) is in compliance with section 3; and

1                   (2) has in effect a program under which each
2       individual incarcerated in that person's jurisdiction
3       who is a citizen of the United States is notified, 4       upon release from such incarceration, of that indi-
5       vidual's rights under section 3.

6 SEC. 9. EFFECTIVE DATE.

7       This Act shall apply to citizens of the United States 8       voting in any election for Federal office held on or after 9       the date of the enactment of this Act.
